

New Bay St. Louis logo makes its mark for city

BY TRACI BONNEY
"A Place Apart" now has a logo apart.
The City of Bay St. Louis finally has its new official logo, six months and lots of ideas after the Prime Time Group of Gulfport was commissioned by the city council to design a distinctive mark to be used on city stationery and business cards, as well as city signs, according to city administrative assistant Mike Cuevas.

Mayor Edward Favre, Cuevas and Municipal Clerk Kay Johnson met with Prime Time's Ted Riemann on a regular basis after the company was commissioned, Cuevas said.
She explained that the design process began with research about the city. Prime Time used all the historical information available about Bay St. Louis, along with photographs, copies of city stationery and business cards, and many other items in its study.

House, Senate approve gaming commission bill

BY TRACI BONNEY
A bill funding the state Gaming Commission will be sent to the governor for signing after all the required paperwork is done, Sen. Vic Frankiewicz said Wednesday.

The bill, passed 85-32 in the House and 31-17 in the Senate Sunday night, appropriates $300,000 for the current fiscal year and $300,000 more for the 1992 fiscal year (which begins July 1).

The money would come from the state general fund instead of from higher license application and annual renewal fees.

Several proposed fee increase bills died before being passed by both chambers.

A local and private bill requested by the City of Bay St. Louis that would allow the city to levy a gaming machine/device/table/equipment tax and to require a per passenger boarding fee for gaming vessels passed the House Local and Private Committee and is headed for the House Ways and Means Committee, Frankiewicz said. The bill, if passed, will give the city more revenues from gaming operations than those allowed in existing law.

The gill net law and marine litter law conference reports passed both chambers, with the gill net law being a "much milder version than what was originally submitted," Frankiewicz said.

He added that the marine litter law was very strong, with community service for offenders and closed container requirements included.

Danzey named acting superintendent to comply with state hiring rules

BY JACQUI COCHRAN
The Hancock County School Board designated assistant superintendent Eddie Danzey to make recommendations concerning the hiring of certified and non-certified personnel for the 1991-92 school year in the absence of superintendent Terrell Randolph.

Board member Lennette Nettele said, "Mr. Randolph knew these were due on April 8. I feel he should have made the recommendations before he left."

After being questioned by the board members as to why Randolph was not present, Danzey said, "Mr. Randolph called me at 6:30 this morning (Monday) and said he would not be back until Friday."

The board members were hesitant to take action on the hiring of the personnel, which by law must be approved or disapproved by April 8, without Randolph's review.

School board attorney Joseph Gex commented, "If no action is taken, all personnel are automatically rehired."

Board president Frank Miller suggested Danzey be designated in Randolph's absence so that the board might proceed with the hirings.

Board members voted unanimously to place Danzey in the superintendent's seat for the one meeting.

One by one, recommendations by school principals and department heads were approved.

Danzey himself penned the transportation department recommendations along with recommendations to rehire Myrna Bourgeois as assistant principal at Gulfview Elementary and Sherry Ponder as Special Education coordinator for the new school year.

Recommendations for school principals were voted on February 15. Approved for renewal were principals Clementine

Waveland approves study; hopes for sewerage grant

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The Waveland Board of Aldermen took a calculated risk when it approved an expenditure of $39,000 Tuesday for a comprehensive study of the city sewerage system.

The study, called "201," is needed by June 1 in order to apply for a federal grant of $500,000 and a state loan, at four percent interest, of $500,000.

Ray Eaton, of Eaton & Associates, placed its fee for the study on delay, with $15,000 to be paid this year and the rest to be paid pending loan approval.

"I feel strong enough about the project to let the fee ride like that," Eaton stated to the board.

He promised that by December or January he would report to the board as to the probability of receiving the grant money in 1992.

"If it appears the grant money won't be awarded that year, I will let you know, and you can wait to accept the state loan until that time when the grant is awarded."

Eaton said the monies are there and it is just a matter of time before the grant is awarded.

He expressed the necessity for the 201 study, saying that once the study is completed, it can be used for application for other grants and loans in addition to those currently being sought.

Mayor Stella Frilot repeatedly questioned Eaton about the application process.

City attorney Lucien Gex questioned the prudence of the city's obtaining the state loan, which is now available, before knowing that the grant has been approved.

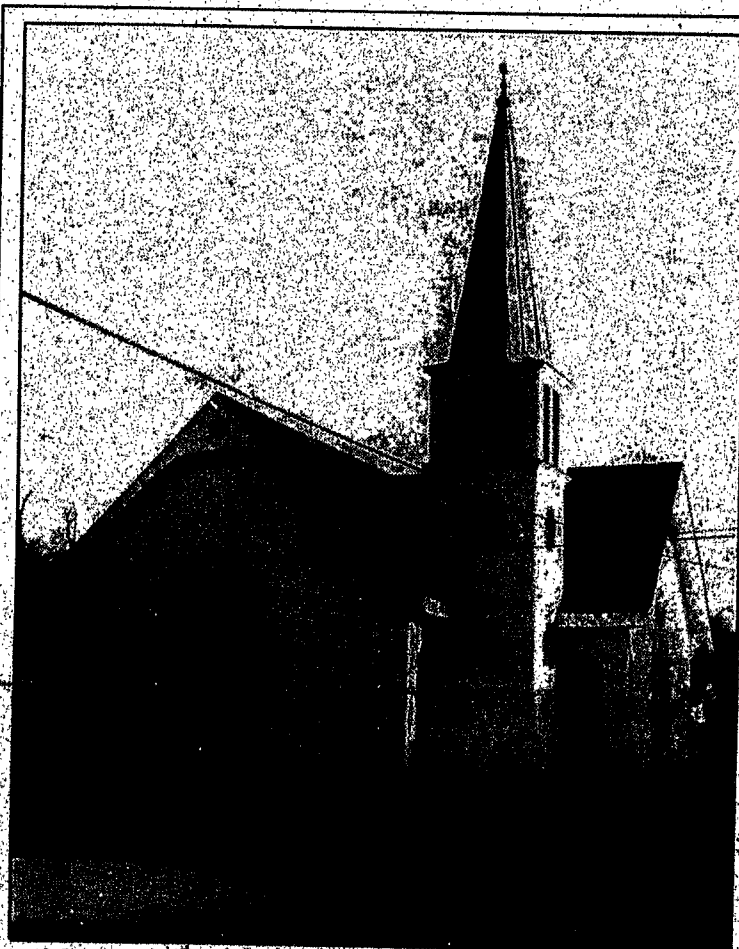

Ward 4 Alderman Stan Weidman pinned Eaton down when he asked if Eaton would be willing to wait for the balance of the study fee until the city obtains the state loan.

Eaton accepted the condition of payment, demonstrating his confidence in the project to the board.

Should the grant be awarded, the monies must be used in designated areas of the city.

Eaton explained the federal grant he will apply for this summer requires that, within a specific

Firing range prospect killed by objection

BY TRACI BONNEY

A prospect was shot for a law enforcement firing range recently when a neighbor of the proposed range site objected to the project.

The county board of supervisors voted Monday to nullify a lease agreement between Mariano and Barbara Perez and the county sheriff's department for the use of the Perez property on Joe Moran Road by city and county law officers for a firing range. The vote came at the request of the sheriff's department following an objection by the owner of property near the proposed range site.

Jim Odom, who is coordinating the development of the range, said the department is continuing to search for a site. Since the Perez property was being donated for the range, Odom said the sheriff's department is searching for someone willing to donate a site.

Diamondhead teen killed on Kiln-DeLisle Road

BY JACQUI COCHRAN
Nineteen-year-old Heather Annette Thomas of Diamondhead was found dead Tuesday morning on Kiln-DeLisle Road, reported Hancock County Sheriff Department Investigator Nathan Hoda.

He said, "Thomas was driving a 1986 Buick when the car apparently left the road and overturned, hitting a culvert. Thomas had been reported missing when she failed to return home around 2:15 a.m. "Her car was found about 6:05 a.m. by a passing motorist, Ralph Robichaux of the Fenton community."

Hoda said, "She was traveling west when the accident occurred about one mile off the Hancock/Harrison counties line.

Coroner Norma Stiglet reported Thomas died of multiple internal injuries. "It is a very dangerous turn. Just a few months ago someone else was killed there."

On October 1, 1990, James Lee Russell died while driving west on Kiln-DeLisle Road. Sheriff Ronald Peterson reported that Russell failed to negotiate a curve, left the road and hit a large box culvert.

Thomas' body was taken to Edmond Fahey Funeral Home.

Rally set for Saturday at First Baptist

BY TRACI BONNEY
 Saturday has special significance on two levels, national and local.

President George Bush recently proclaimed Friday, April 5, through Sunday, April 7, as national days of thanksgiving for the liberation of Kuwait, the ending of international hostilities in the Persian Gulf and the safe return of U.S. troops.

On the local level, ministers and business people have come together to coordinate a prayer gathering Saturday for those opposed to gambling. The rally will be held at First Baptist Church in Bay St. Louis, starting at 10 a.m.

Ron Skinner, pastor of Word of Faith Christian Assembly in Waveland, said five men spent three weeks developing the idea for the rally and planning the event. Those men were James Ginn, Dr. Henry Maggio, Elder Jeff Reed, Rev. Nathan Barber and Skinner.

Skinner said, "The main goal is to pray for the community and to get other people interested in praying for it."

Another goal, he added, is to demonstrate that there are more people than just an outspoken few who oppose gambling. "We want it known that those of us who are opposed to gambling are still opposed to gambling. We don't think it's morally or economically right for our community."

Barber, pastor of First Baptist Church, said, "One of our aims here is to give people an opportunity to take a stand publicly."

Skinner said several speakers are expected, including Reed, pastor of the Powerhouse of Deliverance Church; and Paul Jones of the Christian Action Commission, who will give an update concerning current legislative actions.

Maggio will lead the event.

Bay council blessed with quiet meeting

BY TRACI BONNEY
 Tranquility seemed to be the order of the evening Tuesday as the Bay St. Louis city council held a well-attended but quiet meeting.

Recent council meetings have been attended by capacity audiences and marked by strongly voiced opinions and emotional outbursts about the dockside gaming controversy raging throughout the community and the state legislature.

While gambling proponents and opponents filled some of the council audience seats Tuesday, no one signed up to speak during the public forum on that subject or any other matter.

The council adopted the city's new official logo 4-0, with council chairman Charles Scianna abstaining. Scianna said later that he "just wasn't enthused about that logo."

Mayor Edward Favre said during his report that the local and private bill the city requested to help boost revenues from gaming operations was sitting in committees and subcommittees in the state House and Senate. He urged the council and audience to make calls Wednesday morning before the committee meetings started to voice support for the bill.

Neither city attorney John Scaffide nor special city attorney Donald Rafferty had a report for the council.

Clerk of Council Mike Cuevas reminded the council of two local April events, the Bay St. Louis-Waveland pilgrimage being held today, and the Cajun Concert in the Park set for April 20.

She also told the council that copies of the 1991 Beach Front Festival poster are available at Mary's Eatery, and informed the council members that the city had sent its Main Street Program application to Jackson.

Municipal clerk Kay Johnson presented the claims docket for the council's approval.

In addition to approving the docket and the logo, the council took under advisement bids for a well at Easterbrook Street and a medium sized dump truck to be used with a wood chipper. The council also approved the $14,805 bid from Vermeer Sales and Service for the chipper.

The council went into an executive session to discuss personnel and litigation, then entered back into open session without taking action before recessing until Friday, April 12, 5:30 p.m.

Jehovah's Witnesses to attend convention

A two-day assembly will be held at the Hammond Assembly Center located on the campus of Southeastern Louisiana University on April 6 and 7.

Lewis Tillman, representative of the group in Bay St. Louis, said that he expected some 3,000 delegates to attend the two-day assembly which has as its theme "Stay Awake And Keep Your Senses" (1 Thess. 5:6). Approximately 80 individuals from the local area are to be part of that number.

"Staying awake and keeping our senses in the world we live in today is a vital necessity," Tillman said. "Those are qualities that the God of the Bible is looking for, compared to many who have their senses dulled and are not alert to the many things that affect us in an adverse way."

Tillman said that the sessions are planned for all age groups, and that all meetings are open to the public.

The keynote address will be delivered at 1:40 p.m. Sunday by William Brandozzi, district overseer of Jehovah's Witnesses.

"As an experienced educator in the classroom," she stated, "and an administrator for the past six years, I have gained through experience the knowledge of the job at hand."

"Through my educational experience, I have gained insight of the student."

"An educator's job is not only to educate, but to help each child develop a sense of self worth and productivity."

Bourgeois has taught at the elementary level for 14 years. She taught special education classes for six years. She worked for the district as coordinator for the gifted, psychometrist, assessment team core member, assessment team report writer, parent interviewer, case manager and central office staff member.

For the past six years she has worked at Gulfview Elementary as assistant principal, and since the military deployment of Principal Donald North in November, she has managed the jobs of two.

If elected, Bourgeois said her goals for the office will be "to promote greater working relationships with faculty, parents, students, the community, business leaders, the school board and other county officials."

She lives in Lakeshore with her husband of 33 years, William "Billy" Bourgeois and they have two daughters, Tammy Tabor, a surgical nurse at Hancock Medical Center and Penny Torgeson, a kindergarten teacher at Charles B. Murphy Elementary School.

"I am the first woman, to my knowledge, to have ever run for the superintendent's position here in Hancock County."

"I will promote an upward mobility toward educational excellence, while contributing to the over all goals and objectives of the entire school system."

"If given a chance to become Superintendent of Education in Hancock County School district, I will be a superintendent of whom the people of Hancock County will be proud."

area, at least 51 percent of the households be in a low to moderate income level.

He said there are other grants available, which may be applied for later. Ward 2 Alderman Curtis P. Phil Colson questioned Eaton as to how any leftover money may be spent.

"It must remain in the designated areas for sewerage work," he answered.

Whether there would be any leftover money, Eaton commented, "is doubtful." This will help a great deal, but the deterioration is so great, much more could be done."

During discussion of the project, the board spoke of the amounts of money the city is presently spending on sewerage repairs, naming the $87,000 contracted last month for sewer repairs and improvements and the $19,000 approved for payment that evening for emergency repairs to sewer breaks on March 20 and March 22.

Colson commented on the proposed grant saying, "This is a very good program. Many people in the designated area have no sewerage presently, and compared to the problems we have been experiencing (cost of repairs) we will deter future cost."

Ward 2 alderman Bob Hubbard supported his vote for the study saying, "The more sewerage you can get for your city the better, besides if we wait beyond the June deadline we would have to wait another year to apply for the grant."

The board also heard reports from several people, including architect Mike Reeves about the final touches on the Hancock County Human Services Complex and its parking lot; fire marshal Jay Marsh about Leetown Fire District's request for permission to purchase a pickup truck (the board approved the request contingent on availability of funds); recreation department director Hilda Bourg on the cost of a concession stand at the Néciaise Crossing ballfield (she said the cost would be about $10,000, which would exceed the $8,000 appropriated for the project); and county superintendent Sam Cuevas about personnel, equipment and other matters. Other business included reading the March meetings minutes and approving the April claims docket, the March 16-31 payroll and the third quarter appropriations for the sheriff's department and tax assessor's office.

The board recessed until Monday, April 15, 9 a.m.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It is hoped that the good weather will prevail for the Bay-Waveland Garden Club's Spring Pilgrimage which is scheduled for today.

Festivities get underway at 10 a.m. at the Garden Center at 114 Leonhard Avenue. This is for those not too familiar with the area. Leonhard Avenue is located in the Cedar Point area of Bay St. Louis and runs off Beach Boulevard north of the Yacht Club.

The ladies of Bay-Waveland will have coffee for visitors as well as maps and pilgrimage brochures.

There are many points of interest in the Bay-Waveland area on the pilgrimage tour.

I am hoping of seeing you today at the pilgrimage, and the Garden Club's members are expecting a large turnout of local folks as well as visitors.

Pilgrimage festivities are not over with the Bay-Waveland event, as Pass Christian's will be next Thursday.

Would you believe there were 29,048 visitors who signed the registry at the Hancock County Welcome Center on Interstate 10 during the month of March? And this was with the facility closed for two days.

The majority of the visitors are from neighboring states, while some 1,677 were from foreign countries.

Canada leads the pack with 901, followed by England with 214 and Germany close behind with 204.

As you can see, the Welcome Center is a very busy place.

The family of Pfc. William E. Warren III, was very happy this week with his return from the Middle East.

Warren is a member of the 82nd Airborne and was among the first to be dispatched to Saudi Arabia.

I know there are others who have returned from the Middle East.

I am sure many parents, spouses, relatives and friends are awaiting the return of many more of our men and women serving our country in the Middle East.

I keep hearing it will be some time before the 1355th will return to Bay St. Louis and Ocean Springs, but I am hoping it will be rather quick.

FROM THE CAPITOL

By Governor Ray Mabus

You may be entitled to Federal Earned Income Tax Credit

Did you now as a taxpayer, you might be eligible for a tax benefit?

It's called the Federal Earned Income Tax Credit, and you might be able to receive up to $953 dollars if you qualify.

Your next question is probably: How do I qualify?

Well, if you have children living at home and have earned no more than $20,264 in 1990, you may want to apply for the Federal Earned Income Tax Credit.

While many Mississippians have taken advantage of the credit in the past years and will do so again when they file their 1990 returns, many families who could qualify for the credit do not receive it because they have small earnings, owe no taxes to the Federal Government, and are not required to file tax returns.

And in some cases, families who file tax returns apparently do not fill in the portion of the tax return which qualifies for the credit.

In 1987, nearly 200,000 families in Mississippi received benefits totaling $96,353,000 from the Earned Income Tax Credit. Since then, the Earned Income Tax Credit has been greatly expanded by Congress and the Executive Branch. Because of that, many more people now qualify for the credit.

In 1988, as a result of the tax break, around $60 million was returned to Mississippi's economy.

The Earned Income Tax Credit is easy to get. All you need to do is file a federal income tax return (form 1040 or 1040A) and fill out the line on the Earned Income Tax Credit.

If you earned too little to owe income tax, the Internal Revenue Service will send you a check. If you owe income tax, the Earned Income Tax Credit helps reduce what you have to pay.

Under a change in the law which took effect October 1, 1989, Earned Income Tax Credit payments are not counted for purposes of determining public assistance payments. In most cases this means that families who had income from earnings and from public assistance, as well as those who are receiving benefits now, can apply for the Earned Income Tax Credit without suffering a loss in the public assistance payments.

With income tax filing time right around the corner, it is important that Mississippi families be alert to the significant benefits to which they are entitled.

One important thing to remember is that you do not have to go to any state or federal office to file for the credit. All you have to do is fill out the line on the Earned Income Tax Credit on your federal tax form.

If you need further information, just call the Governor's Service Line at 1-800-222-7622.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Lambert vs. Barber: let's know the facts about both

Dear Editor,

In response to a written statement by Charles Lambert concerning a lawsuit filed by Mississippians for Quality Life against various state officials, let me state that I do not personally know Mr. Lambert and that I do know Dr. Nathan Barber, whom Mr. Lambert seems to direct his comments against.

It is apparent from the statement by Mr. Lambert that he is not a theologian, nor is he a constitutional attorney; however, he seems to be a fairly good deceptive political strategist.

For example, his notice of accepting employment applications for positions that were non-existent. He is credited by some with swinging the dock-side gambling election his way with this tactic.

Who is this Pied Piper who wants to re-mold the mores of many in this county to Lambert's way of thinking?

I ask that the Sea Coast Echo give us a complete biographical detail on Mr. Lambert. In fact, also give us one on Dr. Barber. If the county is to have two champions, then the confused, the uninformed and the apathetic should have some facts.

Let us see who is the anvil and who is the hammer, for if one wishes to lead, we should know if he is worth following.

Churches have no place on 'Gateway to Gaming'

Dear Editor,

Tony Eccles' otherwise well-reasoned proposals (Letters, 1 March) for improving our city as we prepare for gambling contain one unfortunate suggestion.

Our beachfront churches must not be allowed to relocate to Highway 90. This already congested Gateway to Gaming must be kept available for such gambling related industries as T-shirt shops, souvenir stands, chain restaurants (at last our own Toddle House), fast food outlets (Long John Silver, Hurrah!), bailbondsmen, check cashing emporia, condom distribution centers and daiquiri shoppes.

Anyone can see how anachronistic a church—even stylishly done up in a trailer—would be.

No, Highway 90 certainly does not need gangs of immature, childish Christians blindly following the base and ridiculous assertions of their clergy—phrasing happily suggested by Charles Lambert's incisive comments—front page, same issue.

Why not put the churches, instead, where the sporting houses and opium dens used to be? They'll be moving 'uptown' soon enough.

Yours faithfully,
Don Wisser

Taylor's Republican foes will try anything to discredit him

Dear Editor,

CNN quickly ran a retraction for their "boo-boo" (confusing our Gene Taylor with some Missouri Republican also named Gene Taylor).

However, it's difficult for me or most of our local voters to understand how such a huge, super-corporation with an obviously large staff of editorial "watchdogs" might overlook anything so blatantly obvious. Actually, it's my opinion that this whole thing was just another "below-the-belt cheap shot" by Republican dirty-trick committees to once again try to rid themselves of their political nemesis!

Our Gene Taylor has proven himself a fine, honest, and dedicated representative of the people of South Mississippi. He has earned the trust and respect of his constituents, among whom I am one.

Remember, they tried before to bring the President of the U.S. down to the Coast to campaign against Gene Taylor—in vain! It seems Gene's enemies will try anything!

Sincerely,
Paul D. Gilbert

STREET TALK

Do you think mosquito and gnat control should be given more of the local budget?

"I don't know how much of the budget they are receiving now, but where I have a business, I have no mosquito problem. I do have some gnats in the evening, but no mosquitoes."

Anna Belle Cox

"I think so. I feel it is needed to make it more pleasant to be outside, if it were sprayed more often."

"Yea, I do. I live in the county and the mosquitos are really bad, especially around the water where I live."

Jean Jenkins
Shoreline Park

"I do. Where I live the mosquitos are very bad in the mornings and the evenings. With an increase they could spray more often."

Marion Cook
Bay St. Louis

"No. We should eliminate spraying, it shouldn't be any part of the budget. It's impossible to reach all the mosquitos. The spraying of the chemicals is probably more harmful to the humans than to the mosquitos."

MAIL THEFT

Investigator Nathan Hoda of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department reported the arrest Tuesday of a Carriere woman in connection with theft of mail from several boxes on Bayou La Croix Road.

Hoda said Margaret F. Heath, 57, was arrested and charged with DUI after Deputy George Burleson and Auxiliary Deputy Nathan "Corky" Hoda responded to a call late Tuesday that a woman was stopping at mailboxes and tampering with the mail in them.

The investigator reported that when the two men stopped the suspect, they smelled alcohol and tested her for DUI. As this was happening, they also noticed a large amount of mail in her van.

He said he called the U.S. Postal Inspector, who informed him that the Inspection Service had been looking for Heath for a year for similar incidents, and that Heath had charges pending against her in Hattiesburg.

Investigator Hoda said Heath is in the Hancock County jail. Her bond is $600 for the DUI charge, but she is being held for Hattiesburg authorities and the U.S. Postal Inspection Service.

ILLEGAL SALE OF ALCOHOL

Two Picayune residents were arrested and a lounge closed following a Friday night raid by officers with the Hancock County Metropolitan Narcotics Task Force, according to director Glenn Strong.

Ernestine Pickens, 40, and John Henry Pickens, 43, both of 716 Burley St., Picayune, were arrested March 29 at approximately 8:20 p.m. for illegal sale of alcoholic beverages at the Rhythm Club No. 3, Highway 43, Hancock County, said Strong, noting the lounge was licensed to sell beer and not liquor.

Both were released from the Hancock County Justice Facility on $2,000 bond each.

Confiscated in the raid were 40 bottles of gin and whiskey and 30 bottles of moonshine. The lounge will remain closed until further notice by order of Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, said Strong.

Agent William Pepperman was in charge of the investigation, assisted by Agent Terry Eley and Deputies Coleman, Glover, Karl Hoda, Marchetta and Whidlon.

COPPER THEFT

Investigator David Parker of the Bay St. Louis Police Department reported a second arrest Monday in connection with the attempted theft of 63 pieces of copper cable March 26.

Parker said William L. Ramagoz, 18, of Waveland was arrested and charged with grand larceny after investigation revealed him to be the second suspect in the theft of cable from the South Central Bell building at St. John and St. Francis.

He said Edison Watson, 21, of Clinton was arrested March 26 and charged with grand larceny after fleeing the scene with Bay St. Louis Officers Shane Corr and E.J. Favre, Pass Christian Police Canine Unit Officer Mike Bloom and police dogs in pursuit.

Watson was convicted and sentenced to three months in jail, while Ramagoz was released on a $1,000 bond, Parker added. He said the arrest was Ramagoz's first as an adult.

When brought forward it was used as the office and printing room for the Hancock County Eagle newspaper. After the Eagle closed, it was opened as Chapman Printing on the west side and Haas Attorneys on the east. In January of 1988 the building was leased by Jim and Ruth Thompson to be opened as Ruth's Bakery.

After researching the project thoroughly, Riemann presented Favre, Johnson and Cuevas with a list of 40 slogans. The three-member committee narrowed the list to four: "Beautiful"; "Someplace Special"; "The Possibilities Are Endless"; and "A Place Apart."

Cuevas said that after much discussion and debate, the committee settled on "A Place Apart" because they felt that slogan best conveyed all the messages the city wants to project. "It got the message across most effectively and fit best in all the categories, including business and tourism."

"We debated for three weeks over that before accepting 'A Place Apart'. We finally came to a consensus that for the criteria we set up, that slogan worked best."

While the committee was debating the slogan, Riemann and the Prime Time artists were working on designs.

Of eight designs originally proposed, two were immediately chosen by all three committee members. "There was an across-the-board consensus," Cuevas said. "We all liked the same two designs, which were very different from one another."

One design featured the city's name in a calligraphic style, while the other was in a more modern type style. Johnson and Cuevas liked the calligraphic design, but they agreed with Favre that it did not completely convey the strength they wanted the logo to project.

"We wanted a visual mark with the logo, but everything indicative of the area was used and tired," she said. "So we decided to stay away from that entirely. Everything we could have used — a magnolia tree, sailboat, beach, seagull, tern, whatever — had already been used by some other city. We really didn't think that made a strong enough statement about Bay St. Louis."

The committee also wanted the word "saint" in Bay St. Louis to be spelled out. Cuevas said the calligraphic design lost its power with it spelled out. The other design was chosen.

She added that the committee wanted the logo to reflect the area's French heritage, and they felt that its final form does that.

The logo's colors will be blue and burgundy, with "Bay Saint Louis" in blue (metallic blue embossed for the stationery and business cards, and nonmetallic blue for everyday stationery), and "A Place Apart" and the address in deep burgundy.

Cuevas said the paper will be a cross between steel blue and steel gray, with the appearance of a speckled texture, and will be recycled paper.

"Choosing the logo was fun," she commented. "It gave us a respite from the day-to-day grind of city business, and it was nonpolitical."

The city is currently soliciting bids for the diemaking and printing. Cuevas said the city will own the die once it is made.

Fireballs take second in Delta Spring Classic

The Take-One Video Fireballs took second place in the Delta All-Girls Spring Classic held in Greenville last weekend.

The Under-12 girls' soccer team, coached by Bernard Tusa, advanced to Sunday's championship rounds by defeating the Vicksburg Vipers and Greenwood Ghostbusters, and tying with the Vicksburg Strikers in the opening games of the tournament Saturday. Only one goal was scored against the Fireballs in the three games Saturday.

In Sunday's semi-final game the Fireballs played the Vipers again and defeated them 3-2 in a shootout. The game ended in a 0-0 tie in regulation and at the end of two double overtime periods.

Tusa said, "Going into the championship game, I knew this was going to be a tough game. I watched our opponents, the host team Greenville Wreckers, just walk all over the teams they played against all weekend. But I also knew they haven't played against a defense like ours, so this game was a fight from start to finish."

Although the Fireballs dominated the game, they couldn't score a goal. The game ended in a 0-0 tie at the end of regulation. After two overtime periods, the two teams went into a shootout, where the Fireballs were defeated 3-2 for the championship.

"These girls played some great soccer the whole weekend," Tusa said. "We gave up only one goal in five games, two of which were overtime games. I can't say enough about our defense."

"Now we have to start scoring some goals so we can avoid these nerve-wrecking shootouts and win our games in regulation so the coaches, players and parents can be more relaxed."

The Fireballs have played in two tournaments so far this season, taking home a first and second place finish.

"In all, we have faced 13 of the state's 20 Under-12 girls' teams, only losing to one team in regulation play. So, I think these girls are ready once again to compete for the state championship this year in Clinton April 19 through 21."

"Most of these girls have played for me the last four years, and we have had three consecutive state runner-up medals. This year, we want the first place medal."

The Fireballs will play their next set of games this weekend at Lafriene Park in the Gator Tournament.

SSC/OLA tennis team ranked first in district

The St. Stanislaus/Our Lady Academy tennis team was ranked first in the district following the 5-0 defeats of the Bay High Tigers March 20 and the Mercy Cross Crusaders March 18.

Coach Myron Labat named as key players: Francisco Corral and Chris Delgado, who have alternated at boys' singles and have suffered only one loss each so far in the season; Myron Labat and Philip Pratt, who are undefeated this year and whose victories include an intense three-set win (7-5 in the third set) over a highly-rated Hattiesburg boys' doubles team; Mark Schutt and Betsy Boyce, who have been consistent winners at mixed doubles, losing only to the Gulfport mixed team.

Coach Labat also cited Kristy Heitzmann as a standout in girls' singles, saying she has been tested only once this season, that coming in a three-set victory over Gulfport's Macon Dukes; Lindy Heitzmann and Caroline Weems in girls' doubles, both 7th graders at OLA.

"This is by far the deepest team, talent-wise, that we've had in my six years as head coach; however, as talented as this team is, it is also the hardest-working team that I've had the pleasure of working with," Labat stated.

Charlie Mitchell drove a long fly ball to left field to score Calvin Thigpen from third. Weems seconded on a pass ball by the catcher. The Tigers picked up four runs after the smoke cleared and were back in the game.

Top of the fourth, Mitchell retired the sides with two ground balls and a strikeout.

The Tigers also went three up, three down in the bottom of the fourth.

Top of the fifth, the Hornets started with an error and a single, but were shut down with two ground balls and a strikeout.

Bottom of the fifth, the Tigers started off with a base on balls to Brennan Compretta, a strikeout by Sam Shepard, a single by Calvin Thigpen and a single by David Weems. With the bases loaded Mitchell hit into a double play and the Tigers were retired.

Top of the sixth, the Hornets' lead off batter, hit a three bagger to right center and scored on a disputed sacrifice fly to center field. When Thomas Brink made a fine throw to his catcher Gerritt Carver at home, the next two batters grounded out to retire the side.

With the score 7-4 in favor of the Hornets, the Tigers after the first two batters were retired started with Jimmy Strong reaching first on an error by the second baseman, Gerritt Carter hit a single to right, followed by Jamie Kingsley with another sacrifice fly to center. Strong, Trellis Haynes had a two run double, followed by Calvin Thigpen with another double. Weems hit a single to score Calvin.

Charlie Mitchell walked and Chris Barlow hit a single to score Frank Penton from third, but was thrown out trying to go to second. The Tigers picked up six runs on six hits to make the score 10-7, Bay High.

The last bat for the Hornets was a lead off single but Mitchell struck out the next two batters and the third batter hit a pop-up to retire the sides and end the ballgame.

Bay High's next game is at home Friday against East Central at 7 p.m. This will be a conference game.

The team is 8-3 overall, 1-3 conference.

The Tigers traveled to Pass Christian Friday night to play the Pirates on their home field.

The top of the first inning the Tigers picked up three runs on three base hits by Trellis Haynes, David Weems and Thomas Brink. In the bottom of the second inning, Pass picked up two runs on two hits.

Calvin Thigpen started off the second inning with a double, followed by David Weems with a run-scoring double. Weems scored from second on a single by Scott Barnes, and the Tigers picked up two more runs.

In the bottom of the third inning Pass picked up two runs on one hit and two costly errors.

Weems collected his third base hit in the top of the fourth on a single, but the Tigers could not generate any more runs. In the bottom of the fourth, the Pirates were retired three up, three down.

Top of the fifth, the Tigers could not get anything going with a lead off single by Chris Barlow. Bottom of the fifth, Pass picked up one run with three singles.

Bay High picked up one hit by Trellis Haynes in the top of the sixth, but could not get any runs across.

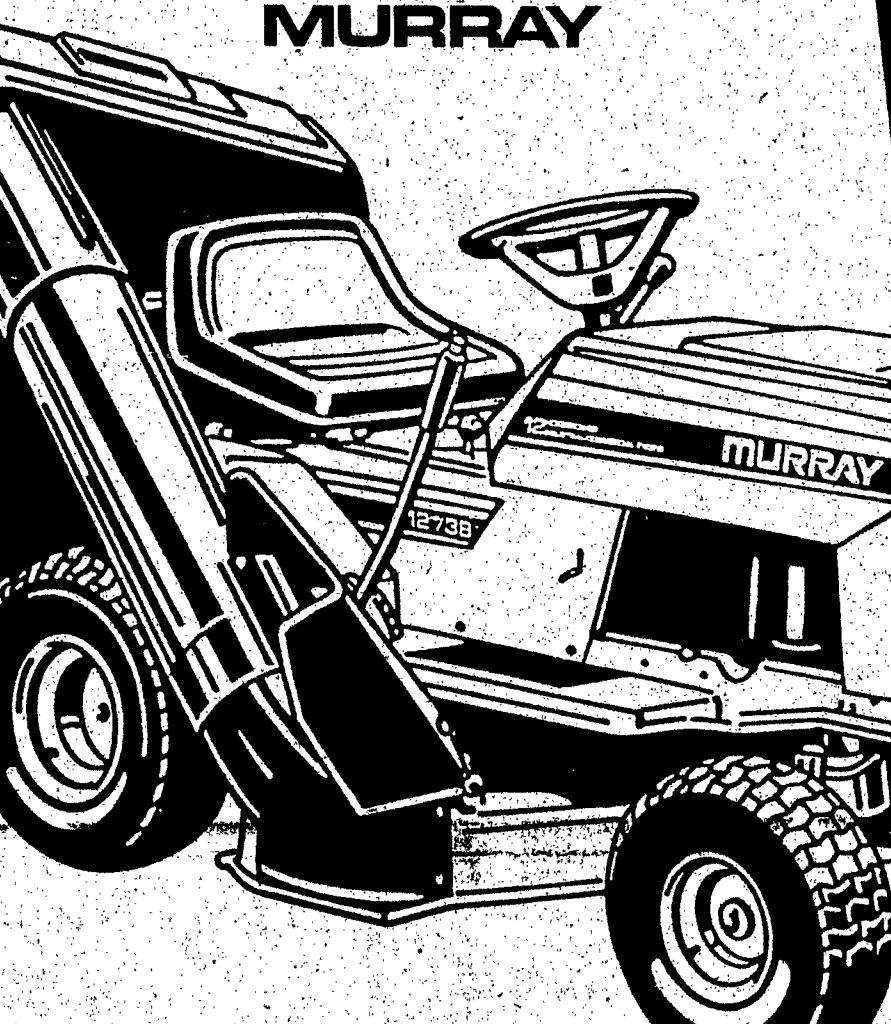

Bottom of the sixth, David Weems retired the sides with three strike-outs. He led off the seventh with a single and his fourth hit of the night, but the next three batters were retired.

Bottom of the seventh, Pass Christian picked up the tying and winning runs on two costly errors and a double.

Final score was Pass Pirates 6, Bay High 5.

Flying high

Wings, psychosis and things over the Bay

BY T. H. (DOC) TOUPS

German flak was pounding the old Dakota mercilessly and new holes suddenly appeared in the fuselage. As nasty tendrils of smoke rose in the passenger cabin, the elderly Romanian nun across the aisle genuflected. If only we could lose those bloody Iraqi fighters and give the slip to that Russian submarine, we might reach the Free French lines in time for the film festival at Cannes. Gene Hackman burst in with a fire extinguisher...

I hadn't of course, actually set foot in an aircraft yet, but driving to Stennis Airport I reflected that we acrophobics were entitled to our air-disaster fantasies and might as well create interesting ones.

Earlier in the week, Dutch-born flight instructor Dennis Ouwerling (of Phillips Aviation) had invited me to go up for a spin during one of his training sessions and I'd said "yes." Stupid, stupid, stupid!

A possum suddenly darted across Hwy. 603. Hadn't I just read something about possums being an endangered species? Perhaps I should turn the car around now and avoid risking any more near misses with these magnificent creatures. Perhaps my old Dodge would throw a fan belt. Perhaps I should have been born a couple of centuries ago, when Kittyhawk was a nice quiet beach where people did nice, safe things like swim with sharks and no one had heard of Orville or Wilbur what'shisname.

Perhaps Dennis would have a liberal supply of those Jack Daniels miniatures that they give away in first class, but make you pay for in the tail section, which always seems to be the only part left intact when you watch news videos of smoking wreckage.

As I pulled up to the Phillips office, I realized that I had to look at this in a positive light. Why, it could actually prove to be fun—if it wasn't for that scandalous law of gravity and a host of other hard, implacable physical laws which I now began to dredge up from high school memory. All of them seethed with menace. Maybe Dennis would be giving lessons to an aspiring blimp driver.

He met me at the door and we had a few minutes to chat. Dennis, now 21, explained that he had come to the U.S. in April of 1990 to attend a 141 flight school in Chesapeake, Va.

The intensive seven-month-long course includes at least 250 hours of flying time.

Now a certified flight instructor, Dennis aspired to become an airline transport pilot. This would require a minimum of 1,500 hours flying time.

His time at Phillips Aviation was helping him to log the required hours. He feels that by pursuing his career goals in the U.S., he is receiving a better education and saving considerable money in the process.

Though this explanation reduced my anxiety somewhat, I briefly considered demanding his flight school transcripts and three notarized letters of recommendation from U.S. astronauts. ("I'm sorry, Dennis. If I don't have it in writing from John Glenn and Neil Armstrong, my insurance would never cover this flight.")

These thoughts were interrupted by the arrival of Mr. Willis Beckworth, Dennis' student, who flew in with his Mooney M20-E. Mr. Beckworth was being checked out for his instrument rating and his Mooney is a high performance, single engine plane.

It looked disturbingly unlike a blimp.

An instrument rating, another step up from a regular private pilot's license, allows a pilot to navigate without reference to visual landmarks, this is invaluable during inclement weather.

Our flight would take us over the Bay of St. Louis and on to Gulfport. There, using only his navigation electronics, Mr. Beckworth would practice airport approach and landing.

We entered Mr. Beckworth's plane and taxied down the runway. Suddenly there was some sort of engine problem and the two pilots began discussing fuel pump pressure. I looked longingly at the ground. Since we hadn't taken off yet, this was only three or four feet away. The problem, apparently minor, was quickly resolved and we were soon airborne.

Our flight path took us over the Gulf and out to the barrier islands. The pilots lapsed into indecipherable technical jargon and I was left to enjoy the view. As I busied myself with my camera bag, I realized that it really was beautiful up here. The close confines of a light airplane add another dimension to the flying experience which just isn't there in a commercial jet.

At 2,500 feet, the ground is sufficiently abstract so as to not represent a threat. Gravity, laws of physics and all of the other aforementioned terrors began to fade to the rear of my conscience. The lack of clouds, for which I'd been thankful on the ground, now seemed a disappointment. Was I actually beginning to enjoy this? No, impossible!

When we reached Gulfport, the instrument approach and landing practice seemed to go off flawlessly and we turned to head back towards Stennis. Was that a tinge of regret I felt as the plane began to head west?

The plane banked and suddenly I could see a small plane in the mud, well past the runway's end. There had just been a crash!

As we descended, I prayed that these things weren't contagious.

FAA investigators today reported the outbreak of a crash virus which has infected all aircraft within a 50-mile radius of Bay St.

Fortunately, I could no longer see the wrecked plane, which was now well behind us. The abrupt change in sound was the only clue I had that we had landed. To my everlasting gratitude, Mr. Beckworth had landed his plane with unbelievable smoothness. As long as he kept the engine running, I could blame my shaking hand on its vibration.

discussion was underway as to whether photographers were drawn to plane crashes or whether the mere presence of a camera tended to cause them.

Everyone took great pains to point out that civil aviation has an enviable safety record and that the average person contemplating flying lessons has very little to fear. Non-average, acrophobic

Dennis Ouwerling, Doc Troups, Willis Beckworth

As we prepared to land, the radio came alive with a cacophony of chatter. Dennis pointed to the ground, but I couldn't see what he was trying to point out and the engine drowned out his voice.

Louis... Scientists report no progress in their attempts to find a vaccine.

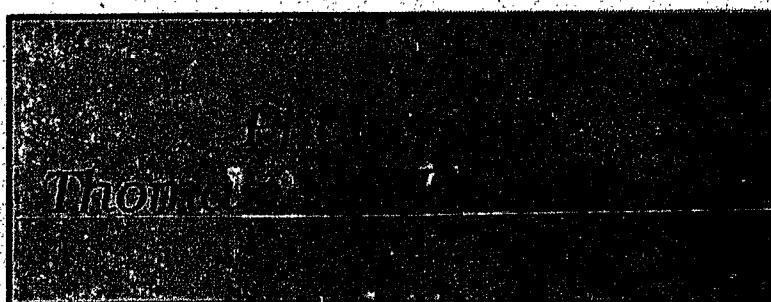

As the ground loomed closer, all of my fears returned in full force. I tensed in anticipation of bone-shattering impact.

After we stopped, I immediately went to photograph the wreck at the end of the runway. Fortunately, the two occupants had walked away from the crash.

When I returned to the Phillips office, an animated wretches like myself should be prohibited by law from negotiating anything higher than a jungle gym.

Later, while speaking to Dennis, I mentioned that I had an old Harley-Davidson and maybe he'd like to go for a ride sometime? He said "yes." Stupid, stupid, stupid!

Bay-Waveland Schools to conduct mandatory state testing next week

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District will participate in the Mississippi statewide assessment program.

A major goal of Mississippi's Educational System is to help all pupils acquire and apply basic reading, mathematics and writing communication skills. The Mississippi Statewide Testing Program is designed to measure state, district and school effectiveness in achieving this goal.

The components of the testing program include:

—Basic Skills Assessment Program (BSAP)—tests basic skills in reading, mathematics and written communication in grades three, five and eight.

These tests will be administered Tuesday, April 9, Wednesday, April 10, and Thursday, April 11.

—Functional Literacy Examination (FLE)—a part of the BSAP that tests for mastery of functional literacy skills in reading, mathematics and written communication as a prerequisite for high school graduation.

If a student does not pass, additional opportunities to pass the FLE will be provided.

High school juniors will take the test on Tuesday, April 9, and Wednesday, April 10.

—Subject Area Testing Program (SATP)—Tests are scheduled to be given on Tuesday, April 30, and Wednesday, May 1. Subjects tested will include Algebra I, Algebra II and Biology.

—Stanford Achievement Test—measures achievement in reading, mathematics, language arts, science, and social science.

Students in grades one through eight will take this test during the third and fourth week of April. This test provides a method of comparing achievement of a student to the achievement of other students in Mississippi and in the nation who are in the same grade.

The primary purpose of the assessment program is to provide meaningful pupil achievement data from the school, district and state levels to educators, parents, citizens and pupils.

Juniors may earn credit at MUW

High school juniors are invited to participate in Mississippi University for Women's PEP program, a specially designed summer-school opportunity for students who want to get a head start on their college educations.

PEP offers up to 16 hours of college credit in advance to superior students who have just completed their junior year in high school. Regular college courses, selected from those offered during MUW's summer sessions, are open to PEP students.

The 1991 PEP program will coincide with MUW's regular summer session. The first term will begin June 3 and end July 2 while the second term will start July 8 and conclude Aug. 6.

To be eligible, students must have a composite score of 25 or above on the enhanced ACT or a comparable result on the SAT or PSAT.

Twenty full scholarships will be offered to PEP students who are selected for the awards on the basis of academic achievement and potential.

Students not receiving scholarships may attend for a fee of $77 per credit hour. The normal summer course load is six to eight credit hours per term.

PEP students may live on campus in one of MUW's residence halls. Living expenses including room rent, board and post office box start at $390 per session.

High school juniors who are interested in participating in the 1991 summer PEP program should see their high school counselor, AP teacher or principal or write to Dr. Kit Carter, PEP director, P.O. Box W-471, Columbus, MS 39701, or call (601) 329-7173, 329-7140, or toll free in Mississippi, 1-800-247-0758.

Librarian Barbara White announced the completion of the Follett's Circulation Plus, an inventory and circulation program by which the school's collection of 10,000 books was typed into a computer card catalog, so to speak, and the books barcoded in the record time of ten weeks. This feat was accomplished by the assistance of her library aides, saving the district about $6000 in contract cost. "Circulation Plus" makes checking in and out books a snap and will bring inventory time down," said White. Elementary school contest seeks name for turtle Gulf Coast Research Laboratory's J. L. Scott Marine Education Center and Aquarium in Biloxi is looking for a special name for one of its prized aquarium occupants—a rare white loggerhead turtle.

Students in kindergarten through sixth grade in Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Stone and George counties are invited to submit one entry, either on a postcard of 3x5 index card. This card should include the suggested name for the turtle, along with the student's name, address, phone number, school, grade and age.

Entries may be brought to the MEC&A, or cards may be mailed to Turtle Contest, Gulf Coast Research Laboratory, P.O. Box 7000, Ocean Springs, MS 39564. Entry deadline is 4 p.m. Monday, April 22.

The winner will receive a free family pass to the MEC&A for one year and a $50 gift certificate from the center's gift shop. A special ceremony will be held to place a commemorative plaque in the aquarium bearing the turtle's name, the name of the contest winner, and information about the rare turtle.

All four loggerheads now at the MEC&A are lab-reared specimens originating from turtle conservation research conducted for the past 27 years by Dr. Jim Richardson of the University of Georgia and his associates at the Sandy Creek Nature Center in Athens, Ga.

The white turtle and one other came directly from Sandy Creek, while two other Sandy Creek turtles came to the MEC&A in November after outgrowing their tanks at Emerson Elementary School in San Diego, Calif. where they were part of an environmental education program.

"The contest turtle is not an albino, but is amelanistic, which means it is lacking in most body pigment," said Dr. Adrian Lawler, aquarium supervisor. "Most amelanistic turtles have terrible deformities, but this one is perfect, and has the potential to reach three feet in shell length and a maximum weight of 450 pounds."

The white loggerhead was hatched in September 1989 and was donated to MEC&A last June.

Red Cross notes drop in donations of blood

The American Red Cross Blood Services, Gulf Coast Region reported blood donations have dropped below what they were during this time in 1990. Red Cross officials are urging residents in our area to support local blood drives.

"Those who have given blood for the first time and those who have traditionally given once or twice yearly are encouraged to consider making a stronger commitment to helping make sure blood is available for patients in the hospitals served by the Red Cross," said local Blood Services chairman Rutherford.

At least 265 units of blood must be collected every day in the region just to meet the demand for blood in the 49 hospitals served by the American Red Cross Blood Services, Gulf Coast Region.

While more than half of Americans are eligible to give blood, less than 5 percent in the Gulf Coast area actually do.

Blood donors must be at least 17 years old, weigh at least 110 pounds and be in good health. There is no age limit for senior citizens who wish to donate if they are in good health.

A waiting period of 56 days between blood donations is required for those wanting to give on a regular basis.

For more information on giving blood or on drives scheduled for our area, call the Red Cross in Hancock County at 467-4244.

Big B Drugs announces profits for fourth quarter

Big B Inc. announced record sales and earnings for the 14-week fourth quarter which ended Feb. 2, 1991.

Earnings for the quarter reached a record $2,455,000 or $.33 per share as compared to $820,000 and $.11 per share in the 15-week fourth quarter of the prior year.

The turnaround from the losses recorded in the prior two quarters to the largest fourth quarter profit from operations was the result of cost cutting measures and gross margin adjustments implemented during the second and third quarters coupled with the fact that, for the first time, the Atlanta market was profitable for the quarter.

For the 14-week quarter, sales rose 2.8 percent over the 15-week quarter in the prior year. On a comparable week basis, sales rose over 13 percent.

Fiscal year 1991 (52 weeks) sales rose 11 percent over the prior fiscal year (53 weeks). On a comparable basis annual sales increased over 13 percent.

Big B recorded the first annual loss in its 23-year history in fiscal year 1991. The loss of $1,465,000 compared to a profit of $3,715,000 in the prior year and resulted primarily from reduced gross margins.
